"Contributed Very Much to the Elucidation of the More Ancient Laws"

1. Barrington, Daines [1727-1800].

Contemporary calf, rebacked retaining existing gilt spine with raised bands and lettering piece, and an unusual image of a crane to foot (owner crest?), gilt fillets to boards, blind tooling to board edges, speckled edges, hinges mended. Some shallow scuffing to boards, moderate rubbing to extremities, some wear to spine ends, corners bumped and somewhat worn. Moderate toning to text, light foxing to endleaves and a few other leaves. A nice copy. $650.

* Third edition. First published in 1766, and reaching its fourth and final edition in 1775, this book "contributed very much to the elucidation of the more ancient laws of England, by introducing historical illustrations to the times during which the statutes were enacted. The volume abounds in curious, learned, and valuable information.": Marvin, Legal Bibliography 96. English Short-Title Catalogue T80835. Order This Item
Includes a Decision Disputed by Mansfield

Wilson, George, Editor.
Reports of Cases in the Court of Exchequer, From the Beginning of the Reign of King George the First, Until the Fourteenth Year of the Reign of King George the Second. By William Bunbury, Esq; Late of the Inner Temple. Taken in Court by Himself, And Published from His Own Manuscript by His Son in Law, George Wilson, Serjeant at Law. Dublin: printed for Sarah Cotter, 1756. viii, 348, [40] pp. Final leaf is publisher advertisement. Folio (12-1/4" x 7-1/2").

Contemporary calf, rebacked in period style retaining existing lettering piece, hinges mended. Some negligible nicks and small scuffs to boards, moderate rubbing to board edges, corners bumped and somewhat worn, later armorial bookplate of William Paine Sheffield to front pastedown. Moderate toning to text, light foxing in a few places. $450.

* Reissue of the first edition, London, 1755. Lord Mansfield thought these reports merely loose notes. "But Mansfield, in this as in other cases, was rather too ready to decry a set of reports because they contained a decision which was contrary to his own view of the law in the particular case before the court...Against Mansfield's condemnation we can set the opinions of Platt and Parker who recognized these reports as authoritative in 1853" (Holdsworth). A member of a distinguished New England family, Sheffield [1820-1907] was a United States Representative and Senator from Rhode Island. Holdsworth, History of English Law XII:137-138. First Edition of a Classic Study of International Law and the Laws of Armed Conflict

Contemporary vellum, early hand-lettered title to spine. Light soiling to spine, corners and spine ends lightly bumped, front pastedown loose. Title page with attractive copperplate allegorical vignette printed in red and black, woodcut head-pieces tail-pieces and decorated initials. Light to moderate toning, light foxing in places, early owner annotations and faint recent marks in pencil to a few leaves. A handsome copy. $1,500.

* First edition. One of the most important jurists and international lawyers of his time, Bynkershoek was a Dutch jurist who founded the positive school of international law, which favored principles drawn from usage and practice over theorems drawn from natural law. He was also the first to propose the “three-mile limit” rule, which states that a nation may claim sovereignty over adjacent waters to a distance of three miles, the maximum distance of a cannonball fired from a shoreline. Quaestionum Juris Publici is one of his most important works international law. The first and most important part, "De Rebus Bellicis," is one of the first modern assessments of the laws of war. Bynkershoek accepts that war encompasses violence against civilians and non-military targets. As Neff observes, he "candidly pronounced war to be an 'attempt to subjugate the enemy and all that he has by seizing all the power that the sovereign has over the state, that is to say, by exercising complete dominion over all persons and all things contained in that state. (...)’ The whole state is placed in the legal attitude of a belligerent toward another state, so that every member of the one nation is authorized to commit hostilities against every member of the other, in every place and under every circumstance.” Having acknowledged these facts, he goes on to condemn actions against civilians and advocates the fair treatment of prisoners of war. Beginning with Lord Mansfield, scholars have considered this to be Bynkershoek's greatest work. It was reissued in 1930 as a title in the Carnegie Classics of International Law series. "A Reporter of Acknowledged Accuracy."

Reports of Cases Adjudged in the Court of King's Bench, From the Third Year of King James the Second, To the Twelfth Year of King William the Third. [London]: Printed by E. and R. Nutt, and R. Gosling, 1728. [xiv], 520, [30] pp. Includes one-page advertisement leaf. Folio (12-1/4" x 7-1/2").

Recent period-style quarter calf over cloth, raised bands and retained earlier lettering piece to spine, endpapers renewed. Moderate toning, dampstaining to head of text block with occasional spotting and light soiling, light foxing in a few other places, light soiling and later library stamp title page, another library stamp to foot of final leaf. $450.

* First edition. That the Reports "passed to a second edition at a period when every new book was most closely scrutinized, would seem to show that the volume was in considerable favor with the profession generally" (Marvin). The second and third editions were published in 1741 and 1743. Wallace notes that Carthew was a "reporter of 'acknowledged accuracy.'" Marvin, Legal Bibliography 176-177. 5. Cowell, John [1554-1611].
   A Law Dictionary: Or the Interpreter of Words and Terms, Used Either in the Common or Statute Laws of Great Britain, And In Tenures and Jocular Customs: First Published by the Learned Dr. Cowel, And in This Edition Very Much Augmented and Improved, By the Addition of Many Thousand Words, Found in Our Histories, Antiquities, Cartularies, Rolls, Registers, And Other Manuscript Records. With An Appendix, Containing Two Tables; One of the Antient Names of Places in Great Britain, And the Other of the Antient Surnames; Both of Them Very Necessary for the Use of All Such, As Converse with Antient Deeds, Charters, &c. [London]: Printed by E. and R. Nutt and R. Gosling, 1727. [484] pp. Lacking final two leaves of appendix. Main text printed in parallel columns. Verso of final leaf is a publisher catalogue. Folio (12-1/2" x 7-1/2").

Recent period-style quarter calf over marbled boards, raised bands and lettering piece to spine, endpapers renewed, front pastedown retained. Light fading to spine, moderate toning and faint dampstaining to text, worming to lower margins near rear of text block, clean tear to leaf LLL4, early owner annotations to front pastedown, early owner signature to head of title page and following leaf. An important edition in a handsome binding. $350.

* Eighth and final edition, with an excellent preface that discusses the dictionary's colorful the publication history. The Interpreter was considered to be the best law dictionary until Jacob's, and was, and still is, used by scholars of early English legal texts. Its publication in 1607 provoked intense controversy. At a time when Parliament and James I were vying for power, the House of Commons was angered by Cowell's royalist sympathies, which were evident in such definitions as "King," "Parliament," "Prerogative," "Recoveries," and "Subsidies." When a joint committee of Lords and Councilors reviewed the work, the ensuing controversy nearly halted the affairs of government. The king intervened in fear that his own fiscal interests would not be approved by Parliament, and ordered a proclamation that imprisoned Cowell, suppressed the book and ordered all copies burned by a public hangman on March 10, 1610. Moreover, the Interpreter contained a quotation critical of Littleton's scholarship that angered Sir Edward Coke. It comes as no surprise that he was instrumental in the book's suppression and in Cowell's persecution. It remained in use, however, and it went through several editions. Later enlarged editions, such as this one, are used today by scholars of early English legal texts. English Short-Title Catalogue T132904. Order This Item
First Edition of Cowell's Interpreter Edited by Manley

6. Cowell, John. [Manley, Thomas, Editor]. NOMOTHETES. The Interpreter, Containing the Genuine Signification of Such Obscure Words and Terms Used Either in the Common or Statute Lawes of This Realm. First Compiled by the Learned Dr. Cowel, And Now Enlarged From the Collections of All Others Who Have Written in this Kind. With an Addition of Many Words Omitted by All Former Writers, And Pertinent to This Matter, With Their Etymologies as Often As They Occur: As Also Tenures Whether Jocular, or Others Statutes and Records, Wherein the Alterations are Expressed, And Their Agreement or Dissonancy, With the Law at Present Declared. Whereto is Subjoyned, An Appendix, Containing the Ancient Names of Places Here in England, Very Necessary for the Use of all Young Students, Who Intend to Converse with Old Records, Deeds or Charters. London: Printed for J. Streeter [et al.], 1672. [296] pp. Lacking half-title and final blank leaf. Folio (12-1/4" x 7-3/4").

Recent quarter morocco over cloth, blind tolling along joints, raised bands, lettering piece and blind ornaments to spine, endpapers renewed. A few tiny stains, light fading to upper sections of rear board. Light browning to text, inkstains to fore-edges of several leaves near center of text block, moderate edgewear to preliminaries, early owner signature and annotation to head of title page, small hole (from erasure) near foot. $500.

* Fourth edition, and the first edition by Manley. The Interpreter is considered to be the best law dictionary published before Jacob's New Law-Dictionary (1729). Though its significance was recognized almost immediately, it was not approved by all. At a time when Parliament and crown were vying for power, the House of Commons was angered by Cowell's royalist sympathies, which were evident in such definitions as "King," "Parliament," "Prerogative," "Recoveries," and "Subsidies." When a joint committee of Lords and Councilors reviewed the work, the ensuing controversy nearly halted the affairs of government. James I intervened in fear that his own fiscal interests would not be approved by Parliament, and ordered a proclamation that imprisoned Cowell, suppressed the book and ordered all copies burned by a public hangman on March 10, 1610. Moreover, The Interpreter contained a quotation critical of Littleton's scholarship that angered Sir Edward Coke. It comes as no surprise that he was instrumental in the book's suppression and in Cowell's persecution. It remained in use, however, and it went through several editions. Later enlarged editions, such as this one, are used today by scholars of early English legal texts. Marke, Vignettes of Legal History 309-312. The Second Part of Cases Argued and Decreed in the High Court of Chancery, Continued from the 30th Year of King Charles II. to the 4th Year of King James II. London: Printed by the Assigns of Rich. and Edw. Atkyns Esquires, 1701. [viii], 251, [21] pp.

[And]
Select Cases in the High Court of Chancery, Solemnly Argued and Decreed, By the Late Lord Chancellor: With the Assistance of the Judges. With an Exact Table to the Whole. [London]: Printed by J. Nutt, 1715. [viii], 136 pp.

Folio (12-1/2" x 7-1/2"). Recent period-style three-quarter calf over paper-covered boards, raised bands and retained earlier lettering piece to spine, endpapers renewed, retained eighteenth-century armorial bookplate of William Samuel Johnson to front pastedown. Moderate toning to text, browning and foxing in places, signature of Gulian C. Verplanck to lower margin of bookplate. A volume with two notable associations. $750.

*Cases and Select Cases: second edition; Second Part: first edition. These reports contain cases from 12 Charles II. to 4th James II. (1660-1697). According to Wallace, Kent criticized these reports, but were impressed with several reports of cases decided by Lord Chancellor Cowper. Our copy has two notable associations. A prominent lawyer and sometime judge, William Samuel Johnson played a key role in the framing of the United States Constitution and was one of Connecticut's signers. He went on to represent that state in the United States Senate. He was also the fifth president of King's College, now Columbia University. Gulian Verplanck was the son of Johnson's son-in-law, Daniel Verplanck. He was an attorney, politician and man of letters who served in both houses of the New York State legislature and the U.S. House of Representatives. He published poetry and fiction in the _North American Review_ and was one of the founders of the American Academy of the Fine Arts. 1507 Lyons Imprint of an Important Early Law Dictionary in a Handsome Contemporary Binding

11. [Jodocus of Erfurt, Attributed].
[Caccialupe, Giovanni Battista (d. 1496)].

* First published around 1474 and attributed to Jodocus of Erfurt, this popular legal dictionary went through more than 70 editions over the next 150 years. The definitions are mostly derived from the Vocabularius Stuttgiardensis (1432), the Collectio Terminorum Legalium (c. 1400), and the Introductorium pro Studio Sacrorum Canonum of Hermann von Schildesch (c. 1330). Appended to this edition of the Vocabularius is Caccialupe's Tractatus de Modo Studendi, an essay on legal study. OCLC locates 1 copy of this imprint (Bibliothèque Nationale de France). Giunta Edition of the Institutes Illustrated with 23 Woodcuts

Later vellum. Spine ends lightly bumped, light wear to corners, hinges cracked. Text printed in red and black, large woodcut Giunta device to title page, woodcut decorated initials. Moderate toning, text block loosening in a few places, brief early annotations to a few leaves. $4,500.

* Commissioned by the Emperor Justinian in 530 CE, the body of writings known collectively as the Corpus Juris Civilis preserved and restated all existing Roman law. It has four books: the Code, Novels, Institutes and Digest. Intended for students, the Institutes is a synopsis of the reformed legal system. Aldobrandini, who edited this edition and added commentary, was a Florentine jurisconsult. First published by Giunta in 1534, Aldobrandini's text went through several editions during the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. It was one of the most popular and influential early editions of the Institutes. The charming woodcut vignettes that appear in the earlier Giunta editions offer visual summaries of the more important titles. Among the images depicted in the woodcuts are court scenes, farmers at work, a battle and the administration of punishments. The full-page woodcut is an ornate table of descents in the form of a man holding up branches of a family tree. All illustrated Giunta editions are rare. OCLC locates no copies of the 1543 edition in North America. Censimento Nazionale delle Edizioni Italiane del XVI Secolo CNCE13469. Order This Item

Pufendorf's Law of Nature and Nations

18. Pufendorf, Samuel von [1632-1694].
Hertius, Johann Nikolaus [1651 or 1652-1710], Commentary.
Barbeyrac, Jean [1674-1744], Commentary.
Mascov, Gottfried [1698-1760], Commentary.

Contemporary vellum, blind panels framing large central arabesques to boards, raised bands, blind ornaments and early hand-lettered titles to spines. Light soiling and rubbing, boards slightly bowed, corners and spine ends bumped, tiny recent owner bookplates to pastedowns. Title pages, each with small copperplate vignettes, printed in red and black, woodcut head-pieces and tail-pieces. Moderate toning and light foxing, brief annotation in tiny hand to front free endpaper of Volume I. An attractive set. $750.

* Later edition. In 1662 Samuel Pufendorf was appointed to the first modern professorship in natural law (at the University of Heidelberg). In 1670 he became professor of natural law at the University of Lund in Sweden. De Jure Naturae et Gentium is his principal work and a landmark in the history of natural and international law. First published in 1672, it proposed a thorough system of private, public, and international law based on natural law. Beginning with a consideration of fundamental legal ideas and their various divisions, Pufendorf proceeds to a discussion of the validity of customs, the doctrines of necessity and innate human reason. It is significant in part because it develops principles introduced by Grotius and Hobbes. Unlike Hobbes, Pufendorf argued that peace, not war, was the state of nature, and he proposed that international law was not restricted to Christendom. British Museum Catalogue (Compact Edition) 20:1074.

Selden's Edition of
Fleta And His Ad Fletam Dissertatio

21. Selden, John [1584-1645], Editor.

Eighteenth-century calf, blind rules to boards, blind fillets along joints, raised bands and lettering piece to spine, "Fleta" hand-lettered in early hand to fore-edge of text block. Moderate rubbing and shallow scuffing to boards, moderate rubbing to extremities, light chipping to spine ends, chip to lower left corner of lettering piece, joints starting, corners bumped and somewhat worn, cracked in text block between front free endpapers and adjacent endleaves, early armorial bookplate and small recent bookplate to front pastedown. Moderate toning to text, negligible light foxing in places, early owner annotation to front pastedown, two early owner signatures to title page. $300.

* Second and best edition, "Multis Errobis Purgata." The work by an anonymous author describes the practice of the courts, the forms of writs and an explanation of law terms as they existed during the reign of Edward I. It was John Selden who first called the attention of the public to this ancient treatise, and was instrumental in procuring its publication. While Bracton earns the highest praise as the father of legal learning, Fleta earns a share of it for the illustrations he offered to some of the obscurities found in Bracton. Selden's appended dissertation (pp.453-553) contains many interesting observations about Bracton, Britton, Fleta, and Thornton "and shows what use was made of the Imperial law in England whilst the Romans governed here, at what time it was introduced into this nation, what use was formerly made of it, how long it continued, and when the use of it totally ceased in the King's Courts at Westminster.": Bridgman, A Short View of Legal Bibliography 87. The First Reports of Cases Heard in the House of Lords

22. [Shower, Bartholomew (1658-1701), Reporter].

Contemporary paneled calf, raised bands to spine. Light rubbing and some minor scuffing to boards, heavier rubbing to extremities. Moderate toning to text, faint dampstaining to head of text block, rodent damage (?) to upper margins of final 20 leaves with no loss to text, brief early annotations in a few places. $200.

* First edition. This is the first collection of cases heard in the House of Lords, at this time the final court of appeal. In the introduction, Shower writes in the introduction that he hopes "these Reports may probably convince the young nobles of this Realm that some knowledge of the laws of England...cannot be unworthy of the ambition of every Noble-man's son." The reports were found to be a breach of privilege, which put an end to other reports for almost a century. Wallace, The Reporters 400. English Short-Title Catalogue R562. Order This Item

A Landmark in the Philosophy of Republican Government, A Book Admired by Jefferson

23. Sidney, Algernon [1622-1683].
   [Hollis, Thomas (1720-1774), Editor].
   Discourses Concerning Government, By Algernon Sidney, With His Letters, Trial Apology and Some memoirs of His Life. London: Printed for A. Millar, 1763. [v], 46, [1], 64, *64-*71, 65-198, [7], 497 pp. Pagination irregular, text complete, second section ([7], 497 pp.) misbound at rear of text. Copperplate portrait frontispiece. Quarto (11-1/2" x 8-1/2").

Contemporary calf, gilt spine with raised bands and lettering piece, later repairs to joints, spine ends and corners; front endpapers renewed. Light rubbing and a few minor stains and scuffs to boards; moderate rubbing to extremities with some wear to board edges, corners bumped, rear hinge cracked. Phrygian-cap devices, a favorite Hollis image, to foot of frontispiece and p. 198. Moderate toning to text, somewhat heavier in places, occasional light foxing, minor dampstains to a few leaves, marks from paper clip to upper margins of preliminaries, offsetting to title page and frontispiece. A nice copy of a notable edition. $750.

* First edition by Hollis. The first edition of this important work was published in 1698, fifteen years after Sidney's execution for treason in 1683. A reply to Filmer's Patriarcha, the Discourses is one of the earliest modern statements of republican ideals. He proposes a doctrine of natural justice and governmental order from which all institutions vary at their peril. More important, Sidney asserts that a king's authority is granted by parliament, which has the additional power to depose him—controversial ideas indeed during the Restoration period. The edition by Thomas Hollis helped to renew this work's popularity during the mid-eighteenth century. A wealthy Whig author and political philosopher, Hollis produced handsome and affordable editions of works by Locke, Milton, Sidney and other seventeenth-century proponents of English liberty, which he distributed to institutions in the British Isles, Europe and the American colonies. Thomas Jefferson was one of several individuals influenced by this text. He described it as "probably the best elementary book of the principles of government, as founded in natural right which has ever been published in any language.": Sowerby, Catalogue of the Library of Thomas Jefferson, III:12. First Edition of the First Standard Treatise on Wills

24. Swinburne, Henry [1560?-1623].
A Briefe Treatise of Testaments and Last Willles, Very Profitable to be Understoode of All the Subjects of This Realme of England, (Desirous to know, Whether, Whereof, And How, They May Make Their Testaments: And by what Means the Same May be Effecte or Hindered,) And no Lesse Delightfull, Answel for the Rareness of the Worke, As for the Eassines of the Stile, And Method: Compiled of such Lawes Ecclesiasticall and Civill, As be Not Repugnant to the Lawes, Customes, Or Statutes of this Realme, Nor Derogatorie to the Prerogative Royall. In which Treatise Also are Inserted Divers Statutes of this Land, together with Mention of sundrie customes, aswell General as Particular, not impertinent thereunto: Besides divers Marginall Notes, And Quotations not to be Neglected, Especially of Iustinianists, Or Young Students of the Civil Law: With Two Tables, The One Analytical, Describing the Generall Order of the Whole Treatise: The Other Alphabeticall, Disclosing the Particular Contents Thereof: That in the Beginning; This in the End of the Booke. London: Printed by Iohn Windet, 1590 [colophon date 1591]. [xii], 293, [13] ff. As in many copies, our copy lacks the errata leaf and pasted one-word slip-cancel on Leaf K5r (Fol. 65) (changing "whether" to "where"). Quarto (7-1/2" x 6-1/2").

Recent period-style speckled calf, blind rules to boards, raised bands and lettering piece to spine, endpapers renewed. Light toning to text, tiny inkspots to a few leaves, small burn hole to Leaf Kk3 (Fol. 247), mended with archival tape, with no loss to legibility, faint small library stamp to title page, brief annotations to verso. An appealing copy in a handsome binding. $2,000.

* First edition. The testamentary jurisdiction of ecclesiastical law was a separate branch that produced its own literature. From the sixteenth until well into the seventeenth century Swinburne's was the standard treatise on this subject. Holdsworth, who cites it often and considers it "the most practically useful book of [its] period" notes that "it is a very useful summary of the law as to wills and executors as administered in the ecclesiastical courts."; A History of English Law V:14. Lizzie Borden Took an Axe...

25. [Trial].
[Borden, Lizzie (1860-1927), Defendant].
Porter, Edwin, H., Reporter.

Original cloth, blind rules to boards, gilt titles to front board and spine, patterned endpapers. Some fraying to spine ends, most of lettering rubbed away from spine, corners bumped, hinges cracked, light browning to text, tiny label to front pastedown, owner stamp and brief annotation to verso of title page. $450.

* Only edition. McDade says this is "the basic book on the case." Compiled nearly contemporaneously with Borden's sensational trial, the author aims to provide "a connected story of the whole case, commencing with the day of the tragedy and ending with the day that Miss Borden was set free." He touches on such topics as the discovery of the murders, the adjournment of the preliminary hearing and some the many theories that were advanced before any arrests were made. Porter was the police reporter of the Fall River Globe. This book is uncommon. Some have speculated that Borden bought and destroyed much of the original print run. McDade, The Annals of Murder 117. A Classic Exposition of Roman-Dutch Law

26. Van Leeuwen, Simon [1625-1682].

Later three-quarter vellum over marbled boards, calf lettering piece to spine. Light rubbing to boards and extremities, light soiling to spine. Moderate toning to text, light foxing in a few places, brief early annotations to a few leaves. A nice copy. $250.

* Later edition. Deeply influential, Van Leeuwen was possibly the most widely read Dutch jurist during the late-seventeenth and eighteenth centuries. First published in 1654 as Paratitla Juris Novissimi. Dat ist, Een Kort Begrip van het Rooms Hollands Regt, this work is a classic exposition of Roman-Dutch law comparable to Blackstone’s Commentaries. (Indeed, the first English translation, first published in 1820, is titled Commentaries on the Roman-Dutch Law.) Dekkers, Biblioteca Belgica Juridica 98-99. Order This Item
A Sixteenth-Century "Nutshell"
of Roman, Feudal and Canon Law

27. Wesenbeck (Wesembeke), Matthaeus [1531-1586].
Oeconomia Iuris. Leipzig: Curante Ernesto Voegelino [Imprimebatur per Andream Schneider, Typis Vogelianis, 1571]. [ii], 383, [21] pp. Quarto (7-1/2" x 5-1/2").

Contemporary paneled vellum, gilt-stamped early owner name (Cancell: Mari: Burg/ 1681) and faint tiny early signature to front board, raised bands, later calf lettering and small paper shelf label to spine, ties lacking. Light soiling, moderate rubbing to extremities, a few minor worm holes to rear board, corners bumped, front free endpaper lacking, front hinge cracked, a few cracks to text block. Moderate toning to text, light soiling and a small inkspot title page, early ink (library?) annotation to front pastedown. $1,850.

* Wesenbeck, a leading Belgian humanist jurist who taught at the Universities of Jena and Wittenberg, was a distinguished and prolific scholar of Roman law with a pan-European reputation. A posthumous eight-volume collection of his consilia was published from 1611 to 1624. First published in 1571, Oeconomia Iuris is summary of the Corpus Juris Civilis, the Libri Feudorum and the Corpus Juris Canonici with notes and correspondences. Its final edition was published in 1625. Verzeichnissen der im Deutschen Sprachbereich Erschienenen Drucke des 16. Jahrhunderts W2131. Order This Item

Hereunto is also Added a Table for the More Easie and Readie Finding of Matters, Herein Contained. London: Printed by Miles Flesher and Robert Young, 1641. [ii], 350, [8] ff. Quarto (8-1/2" x 6-1/2").

Uniform quarter calf over marbled boards, raised bands and lettering piece to spine, endpapers renewed. Moderate toning to text, faint dampstaining and light soiling to margins in a few places, light edgewear to preliminaries of Volume I, early owner signature to head of its title page, later owner annotation to front endleaf of Volume II, "12970" in small hand near inner margin of its title page. Nice copies in handsome bindings. $500.

* Final editions. West's Symboleography is the most influential works in the history of English law. First published in 1590 and 1593, these two books are complete in themselves and bibliographically distinct. (The volumes were often bound together or bound as sets.) Taken together, they form a general practical treatise on English law. They are historically significant because they are among the earliest texts to address conveyancing. "West's Symboleographie has always been esteemed a book of authority...and contains not only precedents in conveyancing, but of indictments, and of proceedings in chancery."; Legal Bibliography 726. "The Book Jefferson Didn't Write, But Should Have"

29. Wortman, Tunis [d.1822].
A Treatise Concerning Political Enquiry, and the Liberty of the Press. New York: Printed by George Forman for the Author, 1800. xii, 296 pp. Octavo (8-1/4" x 5").

Recent period-style calf, blind rules to boards, gilt fillets and lettering piece to spine, endpapers renewed, title page mounted and re-hinged. Moderate toning and occasional light foxing to text, light soiling, faint embossed library stamp and faint staining to title page, faint stain to following leaf along gutter with discreet repair. A handsome copy of a title rare in the trade. $8,500.

* Only edition. This book is acclaimed as the finest libertarian exposition of free speech. A response to then-recent First Amendment (adopted 1791) and Alien and Sedition Acts (1798), it can be seen as an early response to their implications. As Leonard Levy notes, Wortman "contributed pre-eminently to the emergence of American libertarianism in his book...It is, in a sense, the book that Jefferson did not write, but should have. Devoid of party polemics and of the characteristically American preoccupation with legal and constitutional problems, it is a work of political philosophy that systematically presents the case for freedom of expression...the outstanding characteristics of the book are its philosophic approach and its absolutist theses. (...) Wortman's treatise is surely the pre-eminent American classic, because of its scope, fullness, philosophical approach, masterful marshalling of the facts, and uncompromisingly radical view." Wortman was a New York lawyer, author, newspaper publisher and politician. He is also known for his political tracts, one of which, A Solemn Address to Christians and Patriots, defended Jefferson against charges of atheism prior to the election of 1800. "It is Doubtful Whether Any Book Used by Mediaeval Practitioners Has Greater Importance in the History of Our Law"

Contemporary calf, blind rules to boards, raised bands and later lettering piece to spine, gilt rules to board edges. Negligible light rubbing and a few minor nicks to boards, light rubbing to extremities, corners bumped, early armorial bookplate to front pastedown, crack between front free endpaper and title page, rear pastedown loose. Title printed within woodcut architectural border. Moderate toning to text, occasional crinkling to head of text block, with light soiling in places, light soiling and early struck-through signature to title page. A well-preserved copy. $1,950.

* Fourth edition. As Winfield notes, "it is doubtful whether any book used by mediaeval practitioners has greater importance in the history of our law than the collection of writs known as Registrum Brevium," an opinion shared by Maitland, Holdsworth and present-day legal historians. An essential companion to the Year Books, the Registrum is collects a body of writs dating back to the middle ages. It has its origins in genre that circulated in manuscript. Distilled from several examples, the first printed collection appeared in 1531. A welcome reference, it went through five editions by 1687, all with similar content.
