A Handbook (Legal and Otherwise) for Parish Priests

1. Abreu, Sebastiae de [1594-1674].

Contemporary thick paper (cartonage), early hand-lettered title to spine, untrimmed edges. Some staining and soiling, moderate rubbing to extremities, front joints starting at ends, rear joints partially cracked, text block a little loose, but still secure. Title page printed in red and black, woodcut decorated initials. Light toning to text, slightly heavier in places, faint dampstaining and dampspotting to a few leaves, light soiling to margins of preliminaries, early struck-through signature and tiny worn hole to front free endpaper. $350.

* Fourth edition. First published in 1665, this popular work offers a detailed overview of the duties of parish priests. Abreu sets out how priests should behave, where they should live and the matters they should address in their sermons. Legal matters relating to parish priests and church governance are addressed throughout (where relevant). There is also a brief discussion of exorcism (Book XIII, Chapter 5) and a detailed discussion of the Papal Bull Coena Domini (Book X, Chapter 8), a statement of ecclesiastical censure against heresies, schisms, sacrilege, infringement of papal and ecclesiastical privileges, attacks on people and property, piracy, forgery and related crimes. This book went through ten editions. All are scarce. OCLC locates 10 copies of the fourth edition, 2 in North America (University of Chicago, University of Toronto). This edition not in the British Museum Catalogue. Order This Item*
Scarce Eighteenth-Century
Treatise on Prize Law and Privateering

2. Abreu y Bertodano, Felix Joseph de [c.1700-1775].
Traité Juridico-Politique sur les Prises Maritimes, et Sur les Moyens qui Doivent Concourir pour Rendre ces Prises Légites. Paris: Chez la Veuve Delaguette, 1758. Two volumes in one, each with title page and individual pagination. Octavo (6-1/2" x 4").

Contemporary speckled sheep, raised bands, lettering piece and gilt ornaments to spine, speckled edges, patterned endpapers. Some wear to corners, joints starting, some worming to lettering piece, joints and hinges. Attractive woodcut head-pieces. Toning to sections of text, light foxing to a few leaves, internally clean. An appealing copy of a scarce title. $1,500.

* Second French edition. First published in Madrid in 1746, this treatise on prize law and privateering went through three other editions, all in France in a translation by the author, in 1753, 1758 and 1802. Little is known about Abreu, a minor Spanish noble and diplomat. According to the title page, he was a "membre de l'Academie Espagnole, & Actuellement Envoyé Extraordinaire de S.M. Catholique aupres du Roi de la Grande-Bretagne." OCLC locates 5 copies of all editions in the Americas, 1 of this edition (at Columbia University Law Library). Not in the British Museum Catalogue. 3. Acton, John [d. 1350].
[Badius, Josse (1462-1535), Editor].

Recent calf, boards have gilt rules enclosing handsomely tooled blind panels, gilt spine with raised bands and lettering piece, endpapers renewed. Printed throughout in red and black, woodcut pictorial title page, divisional title page (f. 1) and vignette at head of main text (f. 2), woodcut initials, some pictorial. Light toning to text, faint dampstaining in places, mostly confined to margins, occasional worming, mostly to rear of text, with negligible loss to text, brief early annotations to a few leaves. A handsome copy. $4,500.

* First edition by Badius. Acton's Constitutiones was the first major treatise on English canon law. It is a commentary on the constitutions (edicts) of Otto and Ottobone, the papal legates in England during the mid-thirteenth century. For decades, these constitutions formed the majority of English canon law. Acton's commentary was authoritative. It was first printed in 1496 by Wynkyn de Worde in an edition of William Lyndwood's Provinciale. (This led several people to attribute Constitutiones to Lyndwood.) An excellent summation of English canon law at the time, it is also notable for its insights into the Church's place in English society. As Maitland notes in Roman Canon Law in the Church of England, Acton was "a little too human to be strictly scientific. His gloss often becomes a growl against the bad world in which he lives, the greedy prelates, the hypocritical friars, the rapacious officials” (7-8). OCLC locates 9 copies of this edition in North American law libraries (Columbia, George Washington, Harvard, Library of Congress, Ohio State, UC-Berkeley, University of Minnesota, Washington University, Yale). Dictionary of Roman Law and Legislation with 24 Plates

4. Agustin, Antonio [1517-1586].
Orsino, Fulvio [1529-1600], Editor.
Lipsius, Justus [1547-1606].

Contemporary limp vellum (colored green) with lapped edges, later gilt ornaments to spine, ties lacking. Rubbing to boards and extremities, some wrinkling to corners, minor worming to front board, small chip to front joint, spine ends bumped, corners worn, hinges cracked, front pastedown renewed, other endleaves lacking. Large woodcut printer device to title page, woodcut decorated initials, head-pieces and tail-pieces. Moderate toning to text, a bit heavier in places, occasional faint dampstaining, early annotations to a few leaves. An appealing copy. $2,500.

* Second edition. Agustin, a Spanish cleric and jurist, was Archbishop of Tarragona. He was a leading member of the group of antiquarians in mid-sixteenth century Rome who were involved in the study of ancient Roman institutions. First published in 1583, De Legibus is a dictionary of Roman law with an emphasis on legislation. The final section, a set of plates preceded by a half-title reading Leges et Senatusconsulta Quae in Veteribus cum ex Lapide tum ex Aere Monumentis Reperiuntur, is a collection of transcribed documents. De Legibus went through four editions, the last in 1694. All editions are scarce. A Scarce Collection of Legal Opinions
Relating to Cases in Civil and Canon Courts in Tuscany

6. Altogradi, Lelio [16th/17th C.].

Contemporary vellum, gilt fillets and recent thong ties to boards, gilt fillets and early hand-lettered titles to spines, hinges reinforced, speckled edges. Light rubbing to extremities, spine ends and corners lightly bumped. Title pages, both with large copperplate vignettes, printed in red and black, woodcut head-pieces. Some toning to text, occasional light browning, faint dampspotting in a few places, vellum just beginning to crack through pastedowns, internally clean. Ex-library. Bookplates to front pastedowns. A well-preserved set. $1,500.

* First edition. Altogradi, a nobleman, was a prominent jurist and state official in Lucca. His Consiliorum, a vast collection in two volumes, relates to cases heard in various Tuscan civil and canon courts. A second edition was published in 1700. Both are very scarce. OCLC locates 6 copies of the first edition in North America, 3 in law libraries (Columbia, Library of Congress, and Harvard). Pazzaglini and Hawks, Consilia A-21, A-22. Order This Item

Contemporary vellum with early rebacking and later varnishing, raised bands and early hand-lettered title to spine. Moderate rubbing to extremities, some worming, mostly to spine, front board slightly bowed, front joint starting at foot, hinges partially cracked, preliminaries and rear free endpaper partially detached and somewhat edgeworn. Large woodcut printer device to title page. Light browning to text, faint dampspotting in places, internally clean. Ex-library. Bookplate to front pastedown. A solid copy. $1,250.

* Second edition. A canon lawyer by training, Antonelli was the Bishop of Ferentino. His treatise examines legal aspects of time, mostly under canon law. It is arranged in four books. The first treats "de tempore in generale"; the other books address years, months and hours. Published in 1642, it went through seven more editions, the last in 1753. Few copies of any edition are held in North American law libraries. Not in the British Museum Catalogue or The Canon Law Collection of the Library of Congress. Order This Item

The First English Treatise on Arbitration

8. [Arbitration].
[Author of Regula Placitandi].
Arbitrium Redivivum: Or The Law of Arbitration; Collected from the Law-Books both Ancient and Modern, And Deduced to These Times: Wherein the Whole Learning of Awards or Arbitrements is Methodically Treated. With Several Forms of Submissions by Way of Covenants and Bond: As also Several Forms of Arbitrements or Awards. By the Author of Regula Placitandi. London: Printed by the Assigns of Rich. and Edw. Atkins, Esquires, for Isaac  Cleeve, 1694. [xii], 93, [3] pp. Lacking original initial blank leaf. 12mo. (6" x 3-3/4").

Recent period-style calf, blind rules to boards, blind fillets to spine, endleaves added, original endleaves retained. Moderate toning to text, some edgewear to leaves at beginning and end of text, minor tear to leaf A6 (pp. [11]-[12]) with no loss to text, small chip to its fore-edge, contemporary annotations to endleaves. An appealing copy of a rare title. $2,850.

* Only edition. "The growing practice, especially among merchants, of submitting their disputes to arbitration, which was encouraged by the statute of 1697-1698, produced several books on the subject of arbitration and awards. The first of these books, by the author of Regula Placitandi was published in 1694. The author warns arbitrators that they 'must keep themselves within their jurisdiction and their awards must be measured by the rules of law. 'Tis true they are not so tied up to the formalities of our lawyers; notwithstanding there are many things which must be observed to make their arbitraments good and effectual'" (Holdsworth). The main text is followed by a selection of precedents. Arbitrium Redivivum would remain the only book on the topic until the publication of Bacon's Compleat Arbitrator in 1713. Rare 1530 Printing of the Summa Azonis that Features a Vignette of Azo Lecturing to Students

10. Azo, Portius [1150-1235].

Summa Azonis. Summa Perutilis Excellentissimi Iuris Monarche Nuperrime Maxima Diligetia Castigata, Additoque Novo Repertorio quo Facilius que Studiosissimus Quisque Requirit Occurrere Possint. Lyons: Constantin Fradin, 1530. [xiv], 373 ff. Main text in parallel columns. Small woodcut vignette of Azo lecturing to students on verso of title page. Quarto (9-1/2" x 7").

Contemporary vellum, early hand-lettered title to spine. Light soiling, some staining and a few minor worm holes to boards, some rubbing to extremities with some wear to edges, corners and head of spine, front joint cracked, rear free endpaper lacking, rear hinge starting, a few cracks to text block. Title page printed in red and black within woodcut architectural border, woodcut decorated initials. Moderate toning, occasional faint dampstaining, dampspotting in a few places, annotations and underlining in two early hand to c.50 leaves, some affected by trimming, moderate edgewear to preliminaries, light soiling to title page, minor rodent damage to lower corners of final 18 leaves, notable damage to the following two leaves, which have minor loss to text, but not legibility. A rare imprint. $2,500.

* Portius Azo, also known as Azo of Bologna, Azo Porius, Azo Porcius and Azo Soldanus, was a lawyer and professor of law at the University of Bologna whose pupils included Accursius and Johannes Teutonicus. His fame rests on his carefully organized commentaries on the Code, Institutes and sections of the Digest of the Corpus Juris Civilis. Known collectively as the Summa Azonis, these commentaries form a methodical exposition of Roman law. The Summa circulated widely in manuscript; 35 printed editions were issued from 1481 to 1610. It was a work of immense authority for generations of continental lawyers. Azo's Summae were synthesized by Accursius in his Glossa Ordinaria, his Summa Codicis was used (and, in many places, copied verbatim) by Bracton in his treatise on English law. Light rubbing and a few minor scuffs to boards, heavier rubbing to extremities with wear to spine ends and corners, joints starting at ends, hinges cracked, armorial bookplate of Jared Ingersoll to front pastedown, "Jared Ingersoll's Nove.r 1751" to head of title page. Moderate toning, faint dampstaining to margins of preliminaries and final four leaves of text, faint spotting to title page. A nice copy with an interesting association. $1,850.

* First edition. This was the standard treatise in Great Britain and North America before Story's Commentaries on Equity Jurisprudence (1836). (Jefferson was a notable American owner of this title.) According to Holdsworth, it "can be taken as a good starting point for the history of the development of many of the principles and rules of modern equity." The former owner of this book, Jared Ingersoll, was a New Haven lawyer and prominent colonial official. He is remembered as Connecticut's agent for the Stamp Act and as the father of Jared Ingersoll, Jr. [1749-1822], a delegate to the Continental Congress, signer of the United States Constitution and distinguished attorney and judge. A handsome copy and a fine specimen of Jenson's Gothic typeface. $30,000.

* Between 1250 and 1450 the Post-Glossators, a group of legal scholars and teachers in Italy, initiated the recovery of Roman law texts from the corruptions of the medieval Glossators. Their efforts to apply Roman law to the jurisprudence of their day also prepared the way for the natural law school of the seventeenth century and helped to lay the foundations of the modern state. The greatest member of this group was Bartolo of Sassoferrato. Better known as Bartolus, he was a practicing lawyer and professor at the University of Perugia. His unrivalled reputation derives from his enormous literary output, much of it dealing with the texts later collected as the Corpus Juris Civilis. He produced commentaries on most of these texts. The most notable are the ones dealing with the Digest and Code; all of them went through numerous editions and issues. Super Prima Parte Infortiati is a commentary on a group of books from the Digest concerning donations between husband and wife, divorce, curatorship, wills and testaments and trusts and legacies. (The Medieval Glossators divided the 50 books of the Digest into three parts: Digestum Vetus, I-XXIV,

An Important Tract on Spanish Land Claims in Missouri and Arkansas

[Benton, Thomas Hart (1782-1858)].
Edward Bates Against Thomas H. Benton. St. Louis: Charless & Paschall, Printers, 1828. 12 pp. 12mo. (7-1/2" x 4-3/4").

Stab-stitched pamphlet in recent plain wrappers, untrimmed edges. Moderate toning, faint spotting and "201" in small early hand to title page. $1,250.

* Only edition. Bates accuses Benton, the important Missouri politician and United States Senator, of political opportunism and corruption and refutes Benton's charge that he failed to protect his constituents against Spanish land claims in Missouri and Arkansas as a member of the U.S. Congress. Despite the topicality of this pamphlet and its political motivation, it makes a number of useful observations about the nature of land claims. Bates later served as the first attorney general of Missouri after it was admitted as a state and the U.S. attorney general under President Lincoln. This pamphlet is also notable as an early Missouri imprint by Missouri's first printer, Joseph Charless, who introduced printing there in 1808. First American Edition of Bentham's Classic Essay on Usury

Contemporary tree sheep, lettering piece and gilt fillets to spine. Moderate rubbing to extremities, front joint just starting at ends. Light toning to text, light foxing to a few leaves, early owner signature to head of title page and left-hand margin of p. 50. An attractive copy. $2,500.

* First American edition. Bentham's celebrated essay on the usury laws as an attack on liberty. It began as a series of letters written between January and April 1787 during his long stay with his brother Samuel at his house at Zadobras, near Crichoff in Russia. The letters (13 in all) were written to his friend, George Wilson, in London, largely in response to reports (later to be unconfirmed) that Pitt was then contemplating a reduction of the rate of interest from 5 to 4%. Bentham took the opportunity to write about the commercially thorny interest-rate question including, of course, what he regarded as the stupidity of the government controlled interest rates. He early on took issue with Adam Smith, who seemed, in the Wealth of Nations, to approve the 5% limitation. In May 1787, the manuscript was sent to Wilson. It was published in 1788 through the agency of Jeremiah Bentham. Cohen, Bibliography of Early American Law 2641. Order This Item
Discusses Legal Aspects of Theater and Carnivals, Includes 154 Engraved Plates

Contemporary paper-covered boards, early hand-lettered title and private library shelf label to spine. Moderate rubbing with some wear to extremities, spine darkened, faint dampstain to front board, some scuffing to rear board with loss of paper, twentieth-century bookseller ticket to rear pastedown. Title page printed in red and black. Moderate toning to text, somewhat heavier in places. Early owner annotations to front board, front pastedown and free endpaper, interior otherwise clean. An appealing copy. $2,000.

* Only edition. Berger was a jurist, state official and student of theatrical history. His Commentatio de Personis Vulgo Larvis seu Mascheris von der Carnavals-Lust is an important work on classical Greek and Roman theater. Berger discusses issues involved in modern performances of classical plays, including masks and costumes, with examples drawn from Terence, which are the subject of the plates. A conscientious jurist, Berger also considers the legal dimension of theatrical performance. About half of the text, pp. 129-340, discusses laws concerning theater, carnivals, acting, costumes and masks in the German states. It is an enlarged edition of the author's Dissertatio de Iure Personarum, Quasvulgus Larvas, Seu Mascheras, Dictitat, I.E. Vom Carnavalsrecht, his dissertation submitted to the University of Wittenburg in 1720. Light rubbing and some minor scuffs and scratches to boards, moderate rubbing to extremities, joints cracked or starting, corners bumped and somewhat worn. Light toning to text, somewhat heavier in places, occasional light foxing. A handsome set. $3,500.

* First edition of Volumes II, III and IV, second edition of Volume I. The most influential publication in the history of modern Anglo-American law, the Commentaries on the Laws of England is based on a course of lectures delivered at Oxford University. Because they were not intended for aspiring practitioners, they described general principles rather than practical specifics. Sensitive to the systematizing trends of the day and the prestige of the natural sciences, he described the common law as an intricate, well-designed system akin to Newton's mechanistic universe. The first edition of Volume I was published in 1765. By the time Volume II was published Volume I had been re-published in its second edition; both were issued in 1766. (A revised Volume II was published in 1767.) Due to this publication history there are many so-called "mixed" editions today. Volumes III and IV were later revised, along with the first two volumes, for the fourth edition, 1770. Eller, The William Blackstone Collection at Yale University 1, 2. * First American edition (Commentaries); first edition, second issue (Interesting Appendix). Blackstone's Commentaries, a synoptic review of the English legal system, is the most influential publication in the history of modern Anglo-American law. It was especially popular in America, where it was the standard introductory legal textbook into the late nineteenth century and was the primary, or only, book studied by hundreds of self-taught lawyers, such as Abraham Lincoln. The first multi-volume book printed in America, Bell's edition, a reprint of the fourth London edition, 1770, is a landmark in the history of American publishing. Volume IV also includes a 22-page subscriber list of 839 men, who ordered 1,557 sets. This impressive group included John Adams, John Jay, John Dickinson, Robert Morris, Cesar Rodney, several colonial governors and many other leaders of colonial America. Sixteen subscribers went on to become members of the Continental Congress that signed the Declaration of Independence. Daniel Campbell, the subscriber to our copy, emigrated to the colonies from Ireland in 1754 and became a prominent trader, merchant and judge in Schenectady, NY. Matthew Visscher [1751-1793] was an Albany lawyer and advocate of independence who served as a militia officer during the revolution. A prominent man in Albany after the war, he held several appointed positions in that city and served two terms in the state assembly.

Later re-issued under the title The Palladium of Conscience, An Interesting Appendix was compiled by Bell and originally issued as an appendix volume to his Blackstone edition. (The first issue has a "5" stamped on the spine.) It contains a group of essays on religious liberty inspired by a passage from Section III of Book IV, Chapter 4, "Of Offences Against God and Religion." The owner of this copy, John Wilkes Kittera [1752-1801], whose bookplate is dated 1799, was a notable lawyer and politician who lived in Lancaster, Pennsylvania. He was a Congressman in the U.S. House of Representatives from 1791 to 1801 and was a founding member, along with Stephen S. Du Ponceau and Bushrod Washington, of the Law Society of Philadelphia, which became the Law Academy of Philadelphia. Eller, The William Blackstone Collection in the Yale Law Library 80, 131. The Genesis of Blackstone's Commentaries

A Discourse on the Study of the Law; Being an Introductory Lecture, Read in the Public Schools, October XXV, M.DCC.LVII.
Published by Direction of the Vice-Chancellor, Heads of Houses, And Proctors. Oxford: Printed at the Clarendon Press, 1758. 40 pp. Quarto (10" x 8").

Later three-quarter calf over pebbled cloth, "Blackstone" gilt-stamped to center of front board. Light rubbing to extremities with minor wear to spine ends and corners, small bookseller ticket to front pastedown, light toning to text, a bit of offsetting to corners of title page and verso of final leaf. $5,000.

* First edition. This is the published version of Blackstone's inaugural lecture as Vinerian professor of English law. Presented to a large audience, it was "[h]astened into print less than a fortnight later as A Discourse on the Study of the Law, by late December a London correspondent claimed to hear Blackstone's lecture 'commended wherever I go.' What one reviewer terms 'this sensible, spirited, and manly exhortation to the study of the law' was reprinted in a further thousand copies next year; it also prefaced subsequent editions of the Analysis of the Laws, and eventually the first volume of the Commentaries": Prest, William Blackstone 151. Contemporary calf, carefully rebacked retaining spine, blind rules and fillets to boards, corners repaired, raised bands and lettering piece to spine, original endpapers retained. Some rubbing, a few minor nicks to boards, chipping to edge of lettering piece, hinges cracked. Moderate toning to text, some staining to margins of preliminaries and tables, which are lightly soiled. A handsome copy. $1,950.

* First edition. Originally published as a learning aid for his students, this brief treatise on "the rules by which landed property was transferred, whether by direct inheritance or by one remove by purchase" (6), formed the basis, almost word for word, of Chapters 14 and 15 of the Commentaries of the Laws of England, Book II (1766). Contemporary calf, gilt spine with raised bands and lettering piece, marbled endpapers, edges rouged. Some rubbing to extremities, minor scuffing to boards, small bump to fore-edge of front board. Title page printed in red and black, woodcut head and tail-pieces. Moderate toning to text, light foxing in places. Early owner signature to front endleaf, interior otherwise clean. $1,250.

* Only edition. This is a handbook on criminal law and procedure for lawyers and legislators in Slovakia, then part of the Kingdom of Hungary. At this time Hungarian criminal law was identical in most respects to that of Austria and the German states. It even adopted some of the Enlightenment's ideas about the use of torture. However, it has a more conservative view of adultery and "crimes against nature." It even has a large number of laws concerning vampirism and witchcraft. London: Apud Richardum Tottellum, 1569. [xvi], 444 [i.e. 442] ff. Folio (11-1/4" x 7-3/4”).

Nineteenth-century diced calf, gilt rules to boards, gilt fillets, ornaments and title to spine, gilt rules to board edges, gilt inside rules, marbled endpapers, ribbon marker. Light rubbing, faint dampstain to front board, moderate rubbing to extremities, front joint just starting at head, corners bumped and somewhat worn, armorial bookplate to front pastedown. Attractive large woodcut decorated initials. Light toning to text, somewhat heavier in places, light foxing and finger smudges to some leaves, some fading to text of Fols. 1 and 2. A handsome copy of a landmark work. $12,500.

* First edition. Written between 1250 and 1256, De Legibus et Consuetudinibus Angliae [The Laws and Customs of England] is the first treatise on English law. A systematic work, it emphasizes the separation of procedural and substantive matters and also cites cases as sources of at least intellectual, if not formal, authority. The principles formulated in this work and its use of precedents determined the development of English law and established the method adopted by Littleton and Coke. [Polonus, Martinus (d.1278)].
[Brant, Sebastian, Editor].

Quarto (8-1/2" x 6-1/4"). Contemporary quarter pigskin with elaborate blind tooling over wooden boards with (later?) pigskin clasp with bronze buckle, original iron hasp for chain to top-edge of rear board, raised bands and "Basilae 1508" in early hand to spine, contemporary hand-lettered vellum title panel affixed to front board large calligraphic letter L directly above it, thumb tabs to fore-edges of title pages. Light soiling to pigskin, spine ends bumped, a few minor wormholes to boards. Moderate toning to text, somewhat heavier in places, faint dampstaining to final ten leaves of Margarita, later calligraphic flourish and "1508" to title page of Expositiones. A handsome volume with a rare example of an early library security measure. $20,000.
* Remembered today as the author of the moral and satirical Narrenschiff (The Ship of Fools), Brant was also a noted legal scholar and humanist. He studied at Basel, where he completed a doctor of laws degree. After serving on Basel's law faculty he moved to Strasbourg, his birthplace, where he became city clerk and enjoyed a position of great prominence. Brant was later appointed imperial councilor by the Holy Roman Emperor Maximilian I, who elevated him to the nobility. Expositio Titulorum is a renowned textbook devoted to complex passages in Roman and canon law. First published in 1490, while Brant was in Strasbourg, it summarizes his thoughts concerning Roman and Canon law and reflects his conservative and somewhat cynical worldview. Our c.1496 edition also includes Caccialupi's Tractatus de Modo Studendi in Uteroque Iure, an introductory textbook for law students. An important early legal reference work, The Margarita Decretalium, i.e. "Pearls of the Decretals," is the index to the decretals of the Decretals of Gregory IX (or Liber Extra). First printed in 1481, the Margarita was probably assembled during the late thirteenth century, some time before the appearance of the Liber Sectius in 1298. Expositio Titulorum. ### PROPOSAL TO MURDER THE QUEEN!

“England hath always been famed for Justice, Humanity, and for tendereness towards Women: read the following Paragraph, taken from the MORNING POST of Monday, 26th June, 1820."

- England ought not to be involved in mercy from an ALIEN and UNWORTHY OBJECT; we mean for a cause not essential to our National Interest, and not of sufficient importance to call for a domestic division upon it, to the ruin of our happiness and respect; and, as the Queen alone stands in the way of arrangement, we say she ought to yield to the Universal Good, we care not whether as a MARTYR or a CRIMINAL?

A Fervent Broadside Defending the Spurned Queen of King George IV

23. [Broadside]. [Caroline of Brunswick (1768-1821)]. [Pains and Penalties Bill].

Proposal to Murder the Queen! London: Printed by W. Benbow, [1820].

22-1/2" x 17-1/2" broadside. Text in single column below headline, item mounted to archival paper. Light toning, some edgewear with a few small chips, one vertical and one horizontal fold line, some loss to legibility of about five words along horizontal fold. $1,500.
The repudiation of Queen Caroline by King George IV was one of the most sensational events in English history. Estranged soon after their marriage, Caroline was eventually banished after the birth of their daughter, Princess Charlotte Augusta. In 1814 Caroline moved to Europe. In 1820 her husband's accession to the throne brought her back to Britain. The King asked his ministers to get rid of her. After she refused a monetary offer, the Earl of Liverpool introduced The Pains and Penalties Bill to the House of Lords in July 1820 in order to strip Caroline of the title of Queen Consort and dissolve her marriage. (The bill alleged that Caroline had an affair with a servant, Bartolomeo Bergami, while in Italy.) The bill was approved by the House of Lords, but it was not submitted to the House of Commons, where it would have been defeated. Despite the King's best attempts, Caroline remained a popular favorite. Indeed, her popularity increased during the trial. Although she prevailed, she fell ill and died shortly after the coronation of George IV. She was certain that she was poisoned by one of the King's agents. The trial inspired numerous books, pamphlets and ephemera, such as this anonymous broadside. One of many publications that supported Caroline's cause, it takes issue with a statement against Caroline that appeared in a newspaper on June 26, 1820. Its author said she was an "alien and unworthy object" who needs to be dismissed, either as a "martyr or a criminal." The broadside claims this statement is essentially a call to have her executed, since that is the common fate of martyrs and often the fate of deposed royalty.

Life, Trial and Execution. Thomas Sale, For the Murder of Mr. Bellchambers. [London], C. Paul, Printer, [1848].

19-1/2" x 14-1/2" broadside. Text in four columns below headline and large woodcut execution scene flanked by a set of verses within woodcut border. Light browning, some edgewear and light soiling to margins, chip near center of right-hand margin with minor loss to text, a few creases, some with clean tears, some repaired on verso with archival tape, "Oct. 1847" in small contemporary hand near head of text. $1,500.

* On October 11, 1847, John Bellchambers, "a wealthy old gentleman," was attacked with an iron bolt and robbed by a gang near his home in Westminster, later dying from his wounds. Two of the gang, Thomas Sale and George McCoy, both aged 25, were found guilty of his murder. Sale made a complete and open confession of his guilt before he was hanged outside Newgate Prison on 10 January 1848. There is a death mask of Sale in Scotland Yard's collection of death masks. Sattler, Christian [d. 1858].
Life, Trial, And Execution of Christian Sattler, For the Murder of Thain the Detective. [London: S.n., 1858].

19-3/4" x 14-1/2" broadside mounted to 22-1/2" x 25" frame. Text in four columns within woodcut border, large woodcut vignette of execution, featuring a superimposed "close up" of the hanged man, within woodcut border near center of text below headline. Main text preceded by four stanzas of verse. Some toning, minor creases to margins, "February 8: 1858" in small early hand to upper right corner above border. $1,950.

* Sattler was a German man who stole a bag of valuables belonging to a London stockbroker from an inn in Cambridgeshire (shortly after his release from jail). After stealing the bag Sattler fled to the continent and was tracked down and arrested in Hamburg by two London detectives, Charles Thain and William Jarvis. On the journey back to England, Thain left Sattler alone in his cabin where he found a pistol, which he used to murder Thain when he returned to Sattler's cabin. Sattler was found guilty and hanged at the Old Bailey on February 8, 1858. This broadside includes an eight-stanza ballad about the crime and eight additional sections titled The Interview, The Letter, Sattler's Last Moments, The Condemned Sermon, The Trial, Verdict, Judge's Address, and The Execution. 14-3/4" x 10" broadside, untrimmed edges. Woodcut execution scene depicting five bodies hanging from a gallows above headline. Text in two columns. Light soiling, some wear and a few tiny chips to edges, faint horizontal and vertical folds. $2,500.

* A rare example of street literature, this unrecorded execution broadside commemorates the Cato Street Conspiracy. Led by Arthur Thistlewood, the Conspiracy was an attempt to murder all of the ministers and prime minister of King George IV in 1820. Motivated in part by the economic depression of the period, the conspirators wished to avenge earlier protests suppressed by the state, such as the Waterloo Massacre. The conspirator's goal was to overthrow the government and initiate a revolution similar to the French Revolution. Thomas's broadside is interesting. Published during a period of radical upheaval, it offers a mixed ideological message, most likely to maximize sales by appealing to a wide audience of varied sympathies (and to avoid charges of seditious libel). For example, at the beginning of the text Thomas describes the men with the language of martyrdom: "The unhappy men were perfectly resigned to their fate, and met their death with firmness." Dispelling this sense of heroism, he then says: "The following is a short sketch of those miserable and deluded men." There is also a bit of chicanery in this account. None of these men offered final speeches and they were not drawn and quartered. No copies listed on COPAC or OCLC.

[Lewis, Mary (d. 1836)].
Full Particulars of the Murder, That was Committed on the Body of Mary Lewis, By Charles S. Bartlett, her Son-in-Law, On Saturday, September 10, 1836. Bristol: John Bonner, [c.1837].

20" x 15" broadside. Three woodcuts, the largest of these, depicting the murder, has coloring in red ink depicting blood coming from the head of the victim. Main text in three columns, verses at foot text in five columns. Moderate toning and light foxing, horizontal fold line through center, folds, repaired tears to upper left corner with loss of a few words, without loss of sense, a few small holes along fold.

* Bartlett was the leading actor of Inglestone's San Pareil Theatre company, who had been playing at the nearby annual fair at St. James' Barton, Bristol. He had been married to Sarah Lewis for only a couple of months before the discovery of his mother-in-law's body. It transpires that before their marriage Sarah's father had handed over a dowry of £47 to Bartlett, with the caveat that no more money would be forthcoming until the death of Mary Lewis. Bartlett had been seen alone with Mary on a number of occasions in the days leading up to her murder. With evidence stacking up against him Bartlett was arrested and committed to trial, where he pleaded "not guilty." However, he was found guilty by the jury and executed on April 15, 1837. Private Individual at the Bar.
Abr'm Prescott's Confession of the Murder of Mrs. Sally Cochran of Pembroke, N.H.--June 23, 1833. [Concord, NH.?]: S.n., 1836.

17" x 11-1/2" broadside. Two-columns of verse in twenty stanzas within woodcut ornamental border, text headed by large woodcut vignette of a coffin. Light browning and a few minor stains, faint horizontal and vertical fold line, chipping to edges, section lacking from bottom margin, just touching bottom right corner of border, a few tears along fold lines with no loss to text, later repairs to verso. $2,500.

* Abraham Prescott was found guilty of the murder of Sally Cochran in two separate trials held in Concord in September 1834 and September 1835. Despite a well-crafted insanity defense, he was sentenced to be hanged on December 23, 1835, in Hopkinton, New Hampshire. The execution was postponed to January 6, 1836. The verse account in this broadside presents the murder as a crime of passion: "Oh! lust, accursed lust! 'twas this for which I did the deed; Forfeiting heaven, and life, and bliss, Forfeiting all I need." See McDade, The Annals of Murder 769. Du Ponceau, Peter Stephen [1760-1844], Editor and Translator.
A Treatise on the Law of War: Being the First Book of His Quaestiones Juris Publici. Translated From the Original Latin with Notes, by Peter Stephen du Ponceau. Philadelphia: Published by Farrand & Nicholas [et al.], 1810. xxxiv, 218 pp. Octavo (8-1/2" x 5-1/2").

Recent period-style calf, blind rules with small corner fleurons to boards, lettering piece and blind fillets to spine, endpapers added. Light browning to text, light foxing to title page and a few other leaves, signature of Edward Delafield Smith dated July 27, 1861 to front endleaf. A handsome copy with an interesting association. $1,250.

* Only edition, one of two issues (the other bound into copies of Volume III of the American Law Journal). A translation of De Rebus Bellicus, part one of Bynkershoek's Quaestiones Juris Publici (1737), A Treatise on the Law of War addresses the customs of land and sea warfare. A notably humane work, it condemns actions against civilians and advocates the fair treatment of prisoners of war. Du Ponceau's able translation is prefaced by a biography of the author, a table of cases, an index of citations from the Corpus Juris Civilis and an annotated bibliography of civil law treatises cited or referred to by the author. This latter item, which lists editions and translations, is interesting for its insights into the American reception of the civil law in the early 1800s. Du Ponceau is an important figure in the early history of American law and letters. He founded the Law Academy of Philadelphia in 1821, was the President of the American Philosophical Society and was a much-consulted expert on international relations and linguistics. Edward Delafield Smith [1826-1878] was the U.S. District Attorney for the Southern District of New York from 1861-1866 and Corporation Counsel for New York City from 1871-1875. [Lyons: Antoine Du Ry, Impensis Jacques an d Franciscus Giunta, 1525]. [xii], cccxvi [i.e. 312], [2] ff. Main text in parallel columns. Octavo (7" x 5").

Contemporary vellum from manuscript leaf, hand-lettered title to spine, front endleaves recycled from another book. Some soiling, moderate rubbing to extremities, joints starting, some worming to spine, corners worn, pastedowns loose, worming to rear hinge, a few cracks to text block, a few signatures loose. Title page, with woodcut vignette and architectural border, printed in red and black, small woodcut vignette at head of main text, woodcut decorated initials. Moderate toning to text, occasional faint dampstaining to margins, some edgewear and a few minor tears to title page and the following four leaves. Finger smudges, annotations to rear endleaves, underlining and brief annotations in few places, interior otherwise clean. $1,750.

* Third edition. \emph{Tractatus Memoriaque} is a collection of seven essays on servitudes, real property and related topics in Roman and canon law. It is a collection based on titles that circulated in manuscript and the early printed era. The first edition in its final, seven-essay form appeared in 1511. It was issued several times into the sixteenth century. All editions are scarce. OCLC locates no copies of the 1525 imprint in North America. This edition not in Adams.

Controversial Book on Catholic Divorce and Annulment

* Traité du Pouvoir Irréfragable et Inébranlable de l'Eglise sur le Mariage des Catholiques: Contre le Livre qui a pour Titre Examen de Deux Questions Importantes sur le Mariage Imprimé sans nom d'Auteur, l'An M.D.CC.LIII. Liège: Chez Clement Plomteux, 1768. xii, [2], 368 pp. Quarto (10-1/4" x 8").

Later quarter pebbled cloth over marbled boards, gilt title to spine, endpapers renewed. Some rubbing to extremities, minor wear to head of spine, front joint partially cracked. Light toning to text, somewhat heavier in places. Foxing to title page and a few other leaves. $1,500.

* Only edition. A study criticizing divorce and annulment under canon law. As its title indicates, it takes up the "two questions" in Examen de Deux Questions Importantes sur le Mariage by Pierre Le Ridant. Ridant's work defends the supremacy of canon law and Church authority. Clémens's work argues for the supremacy of local law and sovereigns. A controversial publication, it was banned by Maria Theresa, Empress of the Austrian Empire, which then included Liège (as part of the Austrian Netherlands). Possession of this book would result in a fine of 300 florins. A high-quality facsimile of this edict is laid into our copy. First Edition of Coke's Landmark Commentary on Magna Carta and "English Liberties"

40. Coke, Sir Edward [1552-1634].

Contemporary reversed calf, rebacked in calf, blind rules to boards, raised bands and lettering piece to spine, date gilt-stamped to foot, endpapers renewed with marbled paper, early hand-lettered title to fore-edge of text block. Some minor scuffing to boards, moderate rubbing to extremities with some wear to spine ends and corners. Title printed within woodcut architectural border, typographical head-pieces, woodcut tail-pieces. Light toning to text, minor worming to margins of the first few leaves below text. An appealing copy of an uncommon title in commerce. $5,000.

* First edition. The Second Part of the Institutes, an exposition of "many ancient and other statutes" including Magna Carta, was published by order of the House of Commons after the author's death. It is a landmark work because it offered a novel interpretation of Magna Carta. Reflecting contemporary struggles between the king and Parliament, Coke presented the charter as the ancient constitution of England, one that established the fundamental rights of Englishmen and placed royal power under the laws of the land. Perhaps the most famous section is Coke's commentary on the 29th chapter, in which he traced the origins of trial by jury and the right of habeas corpus. According to the ESTC, this edition has two states: "state 1 has pages 28-29 misnumbered 38-39; state 2 has the pages numbered correctly." Yet another issue is listed in a separate record, R231698, but it is believed to be a ghost. The last copy of the first edition seen at auction was in 2005. English Short-Title Catalogue R12887. Handsome Incunable Edition of Gratian

46. Gratian the Canonist [c. 1090-c. 1160].
Johannes Teutonicus (or Zeneka) (d.1253), Glossator.
Bartolomeo da Brescia (d.1258), Glossator.
Brant, Sebastian [1458-1521], Editor.

Contemporary calf with elaborate blind-tooling over wooden boards, title, brass bosses to corners and centers of boards, raised bands and small later shelf label to spine, "Decretu" blind-stamped to head of front board, 55" in early hand to fore-edge of text block, clasps lacking, pastedowns renewed. Moderate rubbing, chip to head of spine. 67-line text printed in red and black, occasional capitals spaces, mostly with guide-letter, 13-line illuminated initial N on a2r, supplied leaf Aa2 with illuminated initial and flourish at margin. Moderate toning, occasional faint dampstaining to margins, light soiling to a few leaves. $30,000.
* The first of two Froben editions, a composite copy brought together c. 1500. The Decretum Gratiani, is the cornerstone of modern canon law. The first work of its kind, it was compiled by Gratian, a Camaldolese monk, around 1140. Using the latest scholastic and juristic techniques from Bologna, he attempted to harmonize these disparate texts. Like the Corpus Juris Civilis in the study of the civil law, it became the basic text for the study of canon law for many centuries. In the following century an extensive gloss was added by Teutonicus, a German prior living in Bologna. Known as the Glossa Ordinaria, it was later revised and enriched by another Bolognese prior, Bartholomew of Brescia. The gloss and its revisions become a standard feature of subsequent manuscripts and printings. Though never an official edition of canon law, it was a standard work for nearly 800 years until it was superseded in 1918 by the Code of Canon Law (Codex Iuris Canonici). Remembered today as the moral and satirical poet of Das Narrenschiff [The Ship of Fools], Brant was also a noted legal scholar and humanist. He studied at Basel, where he completed a doctor of laws degree. After serving on Basel's law faculty he moved to Strasbourgh, his birthplace, where he became city clerk and enjoyed a position of great prominence. Brant was later appointed imperial councilor by the Holy Roman Emperor Maximilian I, who elevated him to the nobility. In this copy all but the final two signatures are from the 1493 edition. It is augmented by the first two signatures of the 1500 edition, which contain a table of contents that does not appear in the 1493 edition, along with a duplicate title page and author portrait. The uniformity of decoration and the contemporary binding make it clear this marriage occurred around 1500. Goff, Incunabula in American Libraries G384. Gesamtkatalog der Wiegendrucke 11377. Facsimile Edition in Period-Style Calf Binding
With An Original Leaf from the First Edition, 1788

47. [Hamilton, Alexander (1757-1804), James Madison (1751-1836) and John Jay (1745-1829)].
* Special limited numbered facsimile reprint edition, 193 copies, of the very rare first edition containing an original bound-in leaf from the first edition, 1788. The views of Hamilton, Madison and Jay expressed in this landmark work have had a lasting effect on U.S. Constitutional law. Most scholars agree that 51 of the essays were written by Hamilton, 29 Madison and 5 by Jay. Most of the individual essays appeared under the collective pseudonym "Publius" in New York newspapers and journals from October 27, 1787 to early June 1788. The first edition was published anonymously and printed by the M'Lean brothers, who collected and published the first 36 essays as Volume I in March, 1788, with the final 49 essays in Volume II in May of the same year, along with the text of the Constitution. The essays were intended to encourage ratification of the proposed constitution by New York State, but were immediately recognized as the most compelling commentary on the most radical form of government the world had seen. Hamilton's essays especially express a strong concern for the rights of property over the natural rights of "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness," as outlined by Jefferson in the Declaration of Independence.

Later three-quarter morocco over cloth, gilt fillets along edges of morocco, lettering pieces and gilt-edged raised bands to spine, deckle edges. Negligible light rubbing to spine ends and corners, light toning to text, early cellotape repairs to foot of final text leaf (with no damage to text). An attractive copy. $1,250.

* From an edition of 25, this number 10. This remarkable work, better known as the "Reynolds Pamphlet," relates to one of the first sex scandals in American political history. While secretary of the treasury, Hamilton had a three-year affair with a woman named Maria Reynolds. This affair was instigated and encouraged by her husband, James, as a way to extort hush money from Hamilton. Jailed for his participation in a shady speculative scheme, Reynolds attempted to implicate Hamilton in exchange for his freedom, through the help of political enemies, believing Hamilton would claim responsibility if he threatened with public exposure of the affair. In the meantime rumors linking Hamilton to the speculative scheme began to circulate and find their way into print, most notably in Callender’s History of the United States. In a bold move to protect his public reputation, Hamilton addressed the rumors and prevented a political scandal by confessing the truth. Denying any charges of public financial impropriety, he admitted his "amorous connection" with Maria Reynolds with her husband's "privity and connivance." According to Sabin, Mrs. Hamilton tried to buy up all copies of the 1797 pamphlet, but some escaped. A second edition was reprinted in 1800 in the midst of the Jefferson-Burr election by a group of anti-Federalists. As one would expect, a small number of first editions exist today. The Hamilton Club reprint of the first edition was also issued as an octavo in 1865 in an edition limited to 50 copies (see below). Order This Item
